

THE MESSAGE

YOUR CAMP MEETING DAILY NEWSLETTER

BREAKING OF DAY

BY ANGELA HYDE

Some walked. Some drove and some got dropped off. They didn't want to miss this spectacular event making another mark in the History of Oakwood University. The ground-breaking for the Oakwood Farms Market (OFM). There were many hands on deck and Leslie Pollard, President of Oakwood University (OU), was very careful to give everyone the credit due. President Pollard thanked Tommy Battle, Mayor of Huntsville for helping to get the area zoned for OFM. Mayor Battle complimented OU for the positive impact they've already made in our community. After Sabrina Cotton, manager of Oakwood University Industry Recovery Committee, shared the various industries that OU already offers the community. From Elementary School, to Edible Arrangements, to an elite Collegiate educational experience, and finally to the Oakwood Memorial Gardens. "OU covers it all, from the cradle to the grave" said Mayor Battle. The audience laughed and gave a rousing applause. Artis Sidney, developer and manager of the Market, painted a very engaging picture of the things to come- a walking trail that extended down to Wynn Drive along with a pond. They are exploring a Blueberry Festival! Kristine Harding, one of the Architects on the project, shared that there will be a pavilion where weddings could take place and water features where people could come and rest. People will have a true "Farm to Table" experience! The new area was chosen to allow the community full access to the area. This was not just a ground breaking, but a breaking of a new day in nurturing relationships in our community. Bringing individuals closer to the earth and closer to our creator. Sherri Wilson, director of development will continue to make these dreams happen!

#SCCFASHIONCAMP2018

BY CHARITY JOHNSON

Do you want to be a fashionista? Are you interested in learning how to sew?

If so, then S.H.I.N.E Fashion Camp is the place for you. In this class, not only will you learn how to sew, but you will be able to create your own outfit of your choice and sport it in the fashion s show in this upcoming Thursday evening. Ms. Natalie Weech, the camp coordinator welcomes girls and boys of all ages and encourages you to visit her website:

www.NDWeechDesigns.com

You will even get to meet the young, gifted, & talented fashion designer,

Destini Shone't, who has her own personal clothing line.

This is a camp that you certainly don't want to miss!

Self Expressions, Honoring His Guidance, Intentionally Dressing, Neatly Executed, always Exalting Him!

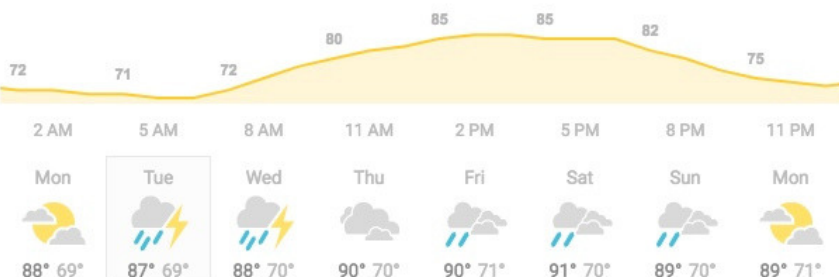

Oakwood University, 7000 Adventist Boulevard
Northwest, Huntsville, AL

Tuesday
Thunderstorm

87°F | °C

Precipitation: 80%
Humidity: 66%
Wind: 7 mph

Temperature Precipitation Wind

TOMORROW'S ANNOUNCEMENTS

BY JOSEPH HYDE

- Marriage Conflict
10 a.m - 12 p.m Mosely Religion Complex
- Mens Ministries Workshop
10:30-11:30 McKee BT Building

